

Happy New Year!

So... if you are like my family the first thing you do after being seated at a Chinese restaurant, ordering some delicious hot tea and an order of spring rolls, you start reading the place mat. Each person figures out their sign and what are the compatible or incompatible members of the family around the table.

This is the Year of the Tiger! Not only that, but it is also the year of the Water Tiger! It is a year of extremes and positive changes. Thank goodness it's a positive change year! We are promised a year of prosperity and the water element amplifies the vital force, our health, and the essence of the Tiger spirit.

My personal sign is the Rabbit. I'm told that in this year the Rabbit is a tender vine climbing the Tiger which is a strong tree. Therefore, the Rabbit (me) can climb to new heights.

I hope all these things come true but the one thing I can be assured of is God will be with me through God's Holy Spirit and following the teachings of Jesus we can all become new, stronger, and resilient images of our old selves. And for all that I humbly say thanks.

Join me in this New Year as we seek our strength from the Lord and lift each other up to new heights.

Only in Christ
Blessings
