

“We are a letter of Christ for the whole world to read, it is written not with ink but with the Spirit of the Living God; not on tablets of stone, but on tablets of the human heart.” 2 Corinthians 3:3 CEB

I got to thinking about this often-quoted scripture. It's February and we have hearts on our minds when they probably should be on our sleeves. We are thinking about boxes of chocolates, flowers, heartfelt cards, letters, and romantic dinners. Nice stuff. It's interesting we have these holidays throughout the year to remind us to be sweet to each other. Now do we carry these appropriate reminders of Valentine Day in our hearts throughout the year? Probably not. What we need to carry every day of our lives is the human heart infused with the heart of Christ. It's not hard to do. If we just read the four Gospels over and over we would start to realize they are getting etched into our hearts. Then we could, just by living our everyday lives become that letter of Christ to the whole world. Something to think about.
