

Jesus Likes People

Jesus likes people. As the Christian writer Don Miller says, he takes great comfort in knowing that Jesus would like me if we were to meet face to face. Yes, Jesus got cranky with those who were arrogant and burdened people with religious baggage. But Jesus just likes people, especially people who live in the margins of society. Jesus wants us to love each other and work laugh and live side by side. We are told to love our God and our neighbors. When Jesus wore the flesh and blood of mankind it was wonderful to spend time with him. As the woman at the well found out. This was somebody who liked you, who loved you, believed in you and sought a closeness that most skin bound men and woman don't share. How thrilling to look God in the eyes and have God communicate those human beings are of immense worth and beauty.

Just something we might want to remember during this Easter season and all the seasons of our lives.

Peace,
Pastor Bob
